1. Policy Statement

- 1.1. Tenants may, at their own cost, carry out improvements to their homes but can only carry out works for which prior permission, in writing, has been granted by Waverley Housing. Such permission will not unreasonably be withheld. The tenant will be advised if the improvement they wish to seek permission for is due to be undertaken by the Company as part of its planned maintenance programme in the near future.
- 1.2. If the improvement requested has not been carried out within a period of 12 months from the date of permission being granted then that permission will fall and the applicant will be required to submit a further application for permission to carry out the improvement.
- 1.3. Where such improvements are carried out and upon vacating the property tenants may either have the right to be compensated or may be reimbursed for certain improvements.

2. Statutory Compensation for Improvements

- 2.1. Scottish Secure Tenants have the right under the Housing (Scotland) Act 2001 to compensation for certain improvements they have made to their home on or after the 1st March 2003, (the date of Waverley Housing's registration as a Social Landlord) in accordance with Scottish Statutory Instrument 2002 No.312. A list of improvements for which tenants have a right to compensation can be viewed in the List of Qualifying improvements (see section 5).
- 2.2. Tenants must claim compensation in writing within a period starting 28 days before the end of their tenancy and ending 21 days after their tenancy comes to an end. The Company will calculate the eligibility of the claim, calculate any compensation due and respond to the tenant within 28 days of receipt of the claim.
- 2.3. Where a tenancy ends because of the death of the tenant any compensation due would be paid to the tenants' executors or personal representative.
- 2.4. Compensation can only be claimed for the cost of materials (excluding appliances such as cookers, fridges etc.); and labour costs (excluding the Tenants own labour). Any professional fees or costs incurred in obtaining planning or building regulation consents are not eligible for compensation. Where any gas or electrical works are carried out as part of the improvements the tenant will be required to arrange and pay for gas service or an electrical test on completion of the works. Tenant must provide Waverley Housing with certification.
- 2.5. Tenants are required to provide documentary evidence of the costs of the improvement in the form of bills, invoices etc. Tenants must lodge copies of any bills invoices etc. with the Company upon completion of the improvement.
- 2.6. Tenants will be entitled to compensation up to a maximum of £4000 for each improvement but will not be entitled to compensation for improvements of less than £100. VAT will be excluded from any calculation for compensation.
- 2.7. The value of an improvement falls as the improvement ages and this will be taken into account in calculating the amount of compensation due. Any financial assistance such as a grant towards the improvement will be deducted from the cost before calculating the compensation due.

- 2.8. Waverley Housing has the right to reduce compensation where it is reasonably believed that a tenant paid too much for the improvement or that the quality standard is higher than it would have been had Waverley Housing made the improvement.
- 2.9. Waverley Housing may increase or reduce any compensation due depending upon the condition of the improvement when the tenancy ends. There will be no right to compensation where a Court has granted the Company a Decree for repossession of the property.
- 2.10. Waverley Housing has the right to take any money a tenant owes the company e.g. unpaid rent or other charges, from any compensation the tenant is entitled to.
